Yank Dodges Draft in England

LONDON (AP)— The first American to refuse his draft call publicly in Britain sought symbolic sanctuary of the church today by handing in his induction papers at St. Paul's Cathedral.

A few hours before Marc Elington of Eugene, Ore., should have been reporting for Army service in Eugene, he stood on the steps of St. Paul's and told Canon John Collins, head of the Christian action group:

"I return today to a church, a place where I was first taught

A burst of machine gun fire earlier Tuesday killed former Guatemalan congressman Alejandro Silva Filla, 40, and his 20-year-old bodyguard was killed in an exchange of fire with the gunmen. Silva's name had appeared on a list circulated in June by rightists saying that all who served communism would be executed.

In a third attack Tuesday, gunmen missed Manuel Villacorta Vielman, former vice presidential candidate from the strongly anti-Communist National Liberation Movement, but wounded his 20-year-old son.

The government says 26 persons have been killed this month by terrorists. The state of alarm proclaimed by the government permits arrests without charges, imposes censorship, prohibits the carrying of firearms except by authorized persons, and bans assemblies of more than four persons.

Urge Saigon to Approach Viet Cong

WASHINGTON (AP)— A Republican presidential candidate and a group of influential Americans say in separate statements that if the Vietnam war is to be slowed down or stopped the Communist Viet Cong must be dealt with politically.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, campaigning in New Hampshire, said Tuesday the Johnson administration should encourage South Vietnam to seek peace talks with the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front. He said the NLF will have to be "reconciled with in any settlement in Vietnam."

A group of prominent citizens, including retired Army Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said in New York any dangers involved in dealing politically with the NLF would not be as great as a long-time effort to destroy it. This group, which studied the Vietnam situation under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, also proposed a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. In a memorandum to President Johnson the group said the goal should be to "defend South Vietnam without surrender and without increasing the risks of a wider war."

The group said a bombing halt "would tend to shift international pressures from Washington to Hanoi."

It also urged that the Saigon government be pressured to take more military and political responsibility for pacification of South Vietnam, saying aid to South Vietnam should be made conditional on its fulfillment of such commitments.

The obligation of moral commitment...I ask of you and the people of Britain the freedom for myself and other young Americans who, by reason of conscience have left their homeland, the right to live a peaceful life in your midst."

35th NCO Selected As Tops For Quarter

The board met recently to select the outstanding NCO of the quarter for the 374th Tactical Airlift Wing and when the final decision was made Sgt. James P. Chism, 35th Tactical Airlift Sq. was chosen.

Sergeant Chism works as the non-commissioned officer in charge of the 35th TAW's operations and training section.

In his letter of recommendation nominating Sergeant Chism for the consideration, Lt. Col. Ritchie Belser, commander of the 35th, pointed out that Sergeant Chism's "outstanding performance" of his assigned duties and tasks are a credit to both him and the Air Force.

Aside from taking into consideration the man's performance of his assigned duties the board also took into consideration the nominees' background during off-duty hours.

Making the selection of the top NCO for the quarter was a board made up of senior NCOs and officers from the 374th TAW.

district towns, shelling American air bases and launching attacks on U.S. ground units across the country. The inflicted severe punishment on allied troops and installations, but suffered heavier casualties themselves according to U.S. reckoning.

The U.S. Command accused the Communists of moving troops during the Christmas and New Year truces into position for the attacks that followed. Similar truces have been declared for Tet—the Viet Cong's for seven days, the allied for 48 hours.

Westmoreland said he expects the next major Communist campaign in the northernmost 1st Corps area, primarily in Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces, the two northernmost provinces just below the demilitarized zone.

The general called attention to increased enemy activity in the neighborhood of the allied stronghold at Khe Sanh, near the Laotian border and commanding the northwest approaches into South Vietnam.

"Long-range patrols have had a number of contacts in that vicinity," Westmoreland said. "There have been a number of sightings by aircraft. There's evidence of an enemy buildup in the western portion and other areas in the vicinity of the DMZ."

Trying to check or blunt the anticipated Communist offensive, U.S. B52 heavy bombers blasted the buildup area in the northwest corner of the country again Tuesday.

The eight-engine Stratofortresses, in their fourth raid on the area in two days, dropped 750-pound bombs in patterns designed to break up troop concentrations and rip open the jungle to reveal enemy hideaways.

The big bombers returned this morning to hammer suspected North Vietnamese bunkers and fortified positions in the demilitarized zone three miles northwest of another allied stronghold at Gio Linh, which anchors the eastern approaches to South Vietnam.

As further evidence of increased Communist movement along the northern frontier, U.S. headquarters reported that a Marine aerial observer spotted 30 armed enemy troops crossing an open area Tuesday night four miles west of the Con Thien Marine outpost, just to the west of Gio Linh. Fighter-bombers and artillery attacked, and the aerial observer reported 16 killed. In other scattered clashes American troops reported 49 of the enemy and five Americans killed and 24 Americans wounded.

Reimbursing of Fund Is Unnecessary

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— It will not be necessary for the legislature to reimburse Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's emergency fund for the money he has advanced for the operations of the state Cosmetology Board, the Arkansas Legislative Council was told Tuesday.

Rockefeller advanced $46,500 in order for the board to operate until the special session next month with the understanding that the special session would reimburse his emergency fund.

It won't be necessary to reimburse the fund, according to Joseph V. Stewart, director of the Budget Division of the state Administration Department. He said the emergency fund already was being reimbursed by transfers from the Cosmetology Board's reserves.

In fact, Stewart said, there never really was a chance the board might have to end its operations—as was feared after it was discovered its appropriation from the 1967 legislature was defective.

Stewart said that in theory the board probably could operate from now on without an appropriation. He said the board had continued to collect fees from beauty parlors. In addition, he said, the Administration Department believes the emergency fund permits it to transfer money from the reserve fund into the emergency fund.

Stewart said the board could keep operating without an appropriation from the legislature as long as the governor was willing to declare an emergency.

He said the board had a reserve of $100,000 that it wants to use for a building but that, under state law, it cannot use for its operations.

ing so there would be more to export. The government's aim is to shift manpower, investment capital and materials to export industries so increased sales abroad will put the balance of payments back into the black. Now that Britain provides a price advantage in the export market, the problem is to make the resources available for production and reduce the supply of consumer goods for British buyers.

The economy program represents a basic shift in policy, at home as well as abroad. The military cuts and Britain's already diminished role as policeman of the Far East and the Persian Gulf. The cuts at home in housing, education, free medical and social security ushered in a new kind of welfare state in which benefits may be paid according to need.

The Labor party's doctrinaire socialists, for whom the welfare state and government domination of industry are articles of faith, appeared to have been mollified initially by the huge military cuts appealing to their pacifist and anti-imperialist principles.

The only member of the Cabinet to resign was Lord Longford, the leader of the House of Lords. The government's last Old Etonian, he rebelled against cuts for state high schools. He had been due to retire soon and was replaced by Lord Shackleton, son of the famous polar explorer.

Tito Visits Cambodia on Asian Tour

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)— President Tito of Yugoslavia arrived here today by air for a five-day official visit.

Six Cambodian air force planes escorted the Yugoslav presidential plane from the Cambodian frontier. City streets were decorated with Yugoslav and Cambodian flags.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk said in greeting Tito: "We hail the policy of nonalignment of our great Yugoslav friends. In a world threatened by the appetites of superpowers, it is indispensable that the medium sized or small nations recall as we do that the ideological or other quarrels do not concern us at all. On this occasion I want to give homage to the eminent place which Yugoslavia occupies in our nonaligned family and its constant efforts to aid the Afro-Asiatic countries in a difficult situation."

Tito thanked the prince and said he was happy to be in Cambodia.

ABC has removed itself from the usual three-network competition in covering next summer's presidential conventions. While NBC and CBS plan to provide gavel-to-gavel coverage, ABC will handle conventions with nightly programs of 90 minutes while the politicians are gathered.

The network decision will be greeted happily by many viewers who complained in the past that they had no choice of programs when all three networks were covering the events. Certainly there have been long hours when the conventions were pretty boring. If the ABC method of doing nightly highlights and analyses works out, it is not inconceivable that the other two networks would make some adjustments four years hence.

NBC and television columnists all over the country have been bombarded for the past several months with letters from "Star Trek" fans expressing alarm over a report that the science fiction series would be canceled. The letter campaign comes at a time when network executives are planning next season's schedules. Within the next few days, a decision will be made whether to give "Star Trek" a third network season or drop it at the end of summer reruns.

The program actually has an excellent chance for survival. In the three-cornered network fight for audiences, it usually comes in second—and the tough competition is CBS's "Gomer Pyle" and feature movie.

NBC, too, is happy that the series has a special appeal to what the researchers call a "quality audience."

NEW YORK (AP) — Women who want to sigh with joy over Norman Norell's spring collection will have to do a medley of "Anchors Away" and "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

The nautical influence—brass buttons, embroidered anchors and midly blouses—predominated in the collection Norell previewed here this week. But no matter what the influence, the effect was overwhelmingly feminine.

Tiny waists were emphasized by wide belts; full organdy skirts and puffed sleeves looked as delicate and delectable as cotton candy; and Swiss embroidery added a final dainty touch. All combined to make it plain that Norell likes women mation gathered by research outfits. And most sponsors who scatter their messages over programs, are concerned with the cost of reaching potential customers.

The cost of reaching 1,000 homes now averages $4.30 in prime evening time. NBC's Telephone Hour, for instance, has a cost per thousand of $13, since the smaller the audience, the higher the cost. "Star Trek" costs $4.70 per thousand, but as one research man observed, "The sponsors get that quality audience."

NBC, incidentally, has a number of programs in greater danger than "Star Trek."

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The antics of Peter Sellers on the set of his current movie have brought the movie capital to the realization that star temperament is not dead after all. In recent times it was generally believed that the rigid economics of the new Hollywood had ruled out the explosions of ego and temper that have been part of the local scene since Gloria Swanson and Pola Negri feuded at Paramount in the 1920s.

"Producers simply won't put up with recalcitrant actors," said one observer. "The film companies can't afford to lose shooting time because a performer is sulking in his dressing room."

But now Sellers is proving that stars can still indulge in fits of temper and get away with it. He is now filming a hip-epic, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas," at Warner Bros.-Seven Arts, and reports of his didos have been circulating the town. According to witnesses, the British comic consistently arrives late so the company often gets few shots before lunch; screamed at Oscar winner Jo who look like women—even if they slick their hair back severely as his models did.

Variations on the nautical theme were evident at all lengths. Norell offered his black-tie audience a choice of floor-length, midcalf and just-above-the-knee skirts.

For daytime, Norell showed the costume. Short jackets stopped just far enough above the waist to show a wide belt which, in turn, gave way to a gathered skirt, fuller in front than in back. Underneath, the models displayed turtle neck jerseys or blouses with huge, perky bows.

Evening, Norell decreed, was the time to look definitely dainty.

Yards and yards of organdy were gathered into puffed sleeves and skirts so full that women may have trouble getting through doorways. Bows predominated—either at the neck or at the back of brightly colored sashes.

Color, to Norell, meant contrast: He offered a choice of the mariner's red, white and blue; the starkness of black and white or the shocking brightness of orange on white.

Van Fleet; screamed at the script clerk for wearing purple, which Sellers considers an unlucky color on a film set; screamed at the film's publicity man and other workers; threatened to interrogate the entire crew to discover who was circulating stories that he was screaming at people; Sellers has declined comment on the reports.

Such reports are relished by the movie crowd, which is delighted to learn that the human element—and actors can be intensely human—still reigns in Hollywood. The death knell for temperamental seemed to have been sounded last year when Judy Garland was fired from "Valley of the Dolls" and replaced with Susan Hayward. Miss Garland's inability to appear on time for her scenes prompted an impatient response from 20th Century-Fox.

"I think that was a mistake," observes a veteran film director. "I've had my share of headaches with stars, but sometimes you have to put up with their eccentricities and nurse them along. A personality like Judy Garland comes along once in a lifetime, and a studio should cherish such a star and do everything possible to get a performance from her."

"It was the same with Marilyn Monroe. Fox fired her from her last picture because she was always late and couldn't remember her lines. But Marilyn was always like that. Billy Wilder put up with her behavior on 'Some Like It Hot' and got classic performance."

Today's bosses are not likely to listen to such an argument. The keynote of production now is efficiency, and that means completing a film with as much dispatch as is consistent with quality. Workman like actors are selected for films in preference to those with a reputation for delaying films.

Director Robert Aldrich explains "I had 17 actors in 'The Dirty Dozen,' and 16 of them were cooperative. The other one came late, claimed he was tired, didn't know his lines, wanted to go home early. What could I do—fire him and call it 'The Dirty 11'?"

Of course, directors do put up with actors' temperamental nowadays—when the actor is a top star. None of the 20 major stars belongs to any studio. So they can't be disciplined, as Louis B. Mayer did with Judy Garland when she was chronically late to "Annie Get Your Gun." Betty Hutton replaced her.

MORE ABOUT HYPNOTISM AND THE SMOKING HABIT

Dear Helen: Three years ago I visited a hypnotist to break the smoking habit. I had been smoking about three packs a day.

In five one-hour sessions from Monday through Friday, he treated me, and on Saturday, as he predicted, I got up with no desire for a cigarette. This continued, though I had no more treatments. After 19 months, I lighted my first smoke, and since then have continued very moderately. I feel it is no longer a habit, and I have smoking under control. I should add that I gained 25 pounds, which I've lost since I started smoking again. The hypnotist told me if I went to him another week, I could have kept my weight down too.

Now—the other side of the picture: My husband was impressed, and took the same treatment. On him, it had absolutely no effect, and when we finally told our doctor, he said that he might have advised hypnosis for me, but certainly not for my husband, as he is a "nervous smoker." For that kind, hypnosis can do more harm than good.—CONVINCED

Dear Helen: I wake up affectionate every morning, but my wife is a grouch until noon; well anyway, until after breakfast. Gentleness doesn't help. I'm much in love and wonder if she is.—MIKE

Dear Mike: Of course she is—but she's also sleepy. It's sad but true: while many men wake up all at once, most women awaken by degrees; their R. R.—romance ratio—is at its lowest ebb in the early morning.

I'll bet seven out of ten gals admit they're more grouchy than purr before their breakfast coffee—and the other three are no doubt bragging.—H

Dear Helen: This friend of mine is 25. He says he could never be true to one woman and

I believe him. I'd feel sorry for the gal married to that swinger. He plans a life of singleness, but not celibacy.

But there's always a chance he might change so I'm trying to talk him out of the operation. He's going in for a vasectomy next month—to make him a safe date. Mainly he wants to make sure he isn't sued for child support, or hooked into marriage. Will he regret it?—J.T.

Dear J: Probably, but that's his problem.

I'm quite sure his unborn kids wouldn't mind losing out on a father like him!—H

Dear Helen: My husband and I are having a terrible argument about this. He agrees I have a problem, but he thinks I should settle it, and I say it's up to him.

His in-laws are running over in the early morning and just sits until late at night. His mother tells me how to fix my house, worries about our income more than we do, expects to be told how we spend our money. My husband admits I've been nice as pie to them. I say he should let them know he's a big boy now. Who's right?—MRS. E.B.

Dear Mrs. B.: You're both right. In-laws are people you must face together. You can simmer them down if you form a united front and let them know you're BOTH mature adults who enjoy relatives but insist on lives of their own. That takes teamwork, not passing the buck—and then blaming the other because he doesn't get tough enough.—H

Weekend Is Crucial for Hope Teams

By RALPH ROUNTON

Once again, days of reckoning stand on the horizon for Hope High School's basketball teams, and this week will be full of them. To lead off the week's card, the Lady Cats tonight begin their run for a second straight Curdon Invitational Tournament championship. In first round action the Lady Cats face lightly-regarded Childester at 5:00 p.m. And the Bobcats take to the spotlight this weekend, wrapping up their 4AA intra-divisional slate, as will the Bobkittens. The squads hit the road on both Friday and Saturday night for games at Magnolia and El Dorado Washington.

The Cats are 1-1 in conference, and a sweep of these two would boost the locals' confidence as well as give them a nice 3-1 ride into the rough February grind. Two weeks ago the Bobcats lost to Magnolia 56-49 and subdued ED Washington 65-57. It will be interesting to see if the Lady Cats can hit new peaks for the Curdon Tournament. The girls have been trying to be accepted in the Joe T. Robinson tournament in Little Rock, which is set for next week. But the teams are entered years ahead of time, and not even help from people like Bradley coach Leo Johnson has been able to get the Lady Cats off the "waiting list."

Joe T. will suffer for that this year, since Hope has already beaten twice—defending champ Bradley and other Joe T. regulars like Ashdown and England this year. Wonder would a Bradley-Hope clash would be like in the Joe T. Robinson finals, with the setting in Little Rock's Robinson Auditorium. It would put forth the state's champion of girls basketball.

So the Lady Cats now take the next best thing, the Curdon. Although they are favored, a mental lapse might cause something disastrous, because everyone now is working to knock off Hope.

Just the opposite is true for the Bobcats, who have been trying to get the kinks out during a two-week break from conference play. The Cats will probably be the underdog in most all of their games, and this will work in their favor. But to make the state tournament, you must win ball games, and that's what it's all about. No matter what the score, though, you can count on the Hope Bobcats to be in there fighting to the end.

Tallis to Head New K.C. Club

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Cedric Tallis, a 20-year baseball veteran who watched over every construction step of Anaheim Stadium for the California Angels, is expected to be named today as executive vice president of Kansas City's 1969 American League expansion franchise.

Ewing Kauffman, owner of the new club, said the executive vice-president and board of directors named Tuesday must agree on both a director of player personnel and a field manager, "but otherwise he will run the show."

Fred Haney, Angels general manager, hired Tallis as business manager immediately after the Angels were granted a franchise in December, 1960. Haney gave Kauffman permission to contact Tallis.

As vice president in charge of operations, the 53-year-old Tallis was a guiding force in bringing about the club's contract with Anaheim and in all stadium details. The Anaheim stadium is considered one of the best in the game, with an unobstructed view from three levels. Tallis also will be involved with a new stadium here. Voters have approved $43 million for separate baseball and football stadiums, to be covered by a movable roof on rails.

Kauffman was named owner by the league six days ago. Charles O. Finley's Athletics were given permission in October to move to Oakland for the 1968 season.

Second oldest race track in America is Pimlico, in Baltimore, Md.

Tournament Is Opening at Saratoga

The annual Saratoga Invitational Basketball tournament opens tonight (Wednesday) with Senior Boys and Senior Girls brackets.

At 6 p.m. tonight, Genoa Central and Mineral Springs Senior girls tangle. At 7:15 p.m., Fouke and Murfreesboro Senior boys play; at 8:30 p.m., Blevins and Fouke Senior girls play and at 9:45 p.m., Kirby and Bodcaw Senior girls play the last game of the night.

There will be three games played Thursday; at 7:15 p.m. it's Saratoga versus Mineral Springs senior boys; at 8:30 p.m., the winner of the Kirby-Bodcaw senior girls game plays Foreman and at 9:45 p.m. Thursday, Bodcaw and Blevins senior boys vie.

Quarter finals will be played Friday night, beginning at 6 p.m. Semi-finals will be played Saturday morning beginning at 9 a.m. and the finals in the girls' bracket will be played at 7 p.m. Saturday night followed by the senior boys' finals at 8:15 p.m.

8 Grid Rule Changes Are Proposed

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Proposed rule changes limiting college football substitution and restricting coaches from signaling plays from the sidelines were among eight scheduled for vote today by the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Also on the agenda was a proposal to ban the sucker shift, a shift by offensive players that draws the defense offside.

A committee spokesman said rules now allow an offensive line to shift if it is part of the routine attack. Teams may not shift in special circumstances "like on the one-yard line to draw the other team offside."

More than 20 other suggested rule changes were dropped Tuesday as the NCAA committee narrowed consideration to the eight proposals.

Others included the possibility that tackle eligible pass plays may be prohibited, a reduction in the length of timeouts, restrictions on signaling fair catches, a revision of clipping rules and punt coverage.

Boycott Hits Race Meet at Hialeah

By GENE PLOWDEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP)—Hialeah Park, for many years called the Queen of American Racetracks, opens its 41st season today embroiled in a horsemen's boycott that could cost the track and state $150,000 for this day alone.

Only 33 horses were entered and the track canceled three of the scheduled 10 races. Usually, about 100 horses would be entered for a 10-race card.

Five or six horses will go to the post in each race except the $25,000-added Royal Poinciana Handicap. That will be a two-horse affair instead of the dozen mounts expected. There was no announcement on whether betting will be allowed on the two-horse Poinciana.

Nobody would guess how many horse players might turn out for such an abbreviated program nor what the betting might be.

The horsemen have asked increases at Hialeah totaling more than $200,000 in purse money alone for the 40-day meet while the track offered $80,000. The horsemen want purses boosted from 43 per cent to 47 per cent of the track's share of

Red Sox Are No. 1 Sports Team of 1967

NEW YORK (AP)—The 100-1 shot Boston Red Sox are the 1967 Sports Team of the Year.

In balloting conducted by The Associated Press and participated in by 372 sports writers and broadcasters, the Cinderella Red Sox, winners of the American League pennant, beat out their World Series conquerors, the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Red Sox drew 133 first-place votes and 629 points. The Cardinals drew 78 first-place ballots and 539 points. Points were awarded on the basis of 3 for a first-place vote, 2 for a second-place vote and 1 for a third-place vote.

The UCLA basketball team, unbeaten during the 1967 season, was third in the voting, and the Green Bay Packers, winner of the Super Bowl over Kansas City last year, were fourth. The Baltimore Colts, winners of 13 straight games this season, were fifth.

The Philadelphia 76ers were sixth, the Oakland Raiders seventh, the Los Angeles Rams eighth, Indiana's college football team ninth and Southern California's football team 10th.

Pipers Blow Chance to Grab No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Pittsburgh Pipers blow an opportunity to take sole possession of first place in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division Tuesday night, but it wasn't Connie Hawkins' fault.

Hawkins scored a club high of 45 points in the Pipers' 107-106 defeat by Kentucky. Pittsburgh remains in a virtual tie with Minnesota—the Muskies are ahead on percentage points—which lost to Denver 111-94.

In the only other ABA game Dallas turned back Oakland 119-112.

In the National Basketball Association Tuesday, Cincinnati topped San Francisco 148-121, Seattle beat Baltimore 142-116 and Chicago took San Diego 123-110.

Hawkins put the Pipers ahead 106-105 with 19 seconds left but Jim Ligon's layup with four seconds left won the game for Kentucky. Darel Carrier led the Colonels with 37 points.

Larry Jones led Denver with 29 points as the Rockets easily outdistanced the Muskies, taking a 32-22 first-quarter lead and coasting home. Mel Daniels topped the Minnesota scorers with 25 points.

Dallas won its eighth game in nine starts while handing Oakland its fifth straight setback. Player-coach Cliff Hagan of the Chaparrals hit on four baskets in the final three minutes after the game was tied 106-105.

Maurice McHartley topped the Chaps with 28 points and Hagan added 27. Jim Hadnot was high for the Oaks with 28.

Pott and Palmer Tune Up at Napa

NAPA, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Pott and Arnold Palmer tuned up Tuesday for the $125,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament with birdie bargains.

Pott, champion of the week-end's Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Tournament, crowded his four birds into nine holes at Silverado Country Club here and walked off the course.

"I can't waste any more birdies," he remarked.

This first official PGA tournament of the year and the first at Silverado. It drew most of 1967's top money winners. However, the No. 1 banker among the pros, Jack Nicklaus, flew to Acapulco to fish. The Crosby is not an official event because amateurs play throughout the tournament.

pari-mutuel wagering—seven cents on the dollar.

Gene Mori, president of Hialeah, offered a flat $80,000 plus $10,000 to the charity fund of The Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

The horsemen began their drive for increased purses and more money for charity programs when Tropical Park opened in late November.

Saul Silberman, Tropical president, granted a compromise purse increase and gave $15,000 to the HBP's Charity Fund.

Computer Is Newest of Bowl Games

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Those All-American hotshots and many unsung football graduates of the 1967 collegiate season don't know it, but they are rattling around right now in a postseason classic you could call the Computer Bowl.

Typical of the vast talent search now a prime factor in pro football's golden business, a final screening of standout college seniors being conducted here by Blesto-V.

Blesto-V stands for the Chicago Bears, Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles, Pittsburgh Steelers and Minnesota Vikings.

The TO stands for Talent Organization. It was tacked on the original code name before the Vikings were added to the group which is one of three scouting networks snooping in behalf of the NFL's current 15-club array.

Blesto-V opened a three-day session Tuesday with club officials scanning the ratings of some 1,600 players as assembled by 12 talent appraisers and abetted by computer calculations.

This is a final boning up for a historic combined player draft by the National and American football leagues at New York Jan. 30.

After the top choices, it's the luck of the draw and the sagacity of the sharpest scouting devised by man or machine as the 26 clubs make 17 picks.

For Blesto-V, a computer system is fed numbered ratings on all phases of play and potential at any given position and produces a comprehensive record on each scouted player.

The whole idea of the scouting networks is to give each club a work list when Commissioner Pete Rozelle opens the draft bag-bag Jan. 30.

Obviously, the name players soon will be depleted. Therefore, each club needs a solid book on many unheralded players who may have pro potential.

Another scout combine includes the Los Angeles Rams, San Francisco 49ers and Dallas Cowboys. The third, and largest, represents the Cleveland Browns, Baltimore Colts, St. Louis Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, New York Giants, Washington Redskins, Atlanta Falcons and New Orleans Saints.

Massenelli Heads Hope Booster Club

Hope Athletic Booster Club met last Monday night at the High School and elected Vic Massenelli as president for 1968. Bob Turner was elected vice-president and Ronnie Phillips, secretary.

During the past year the club actively supported all Hope Athletic teams. The club purchased orange juice for the football team and weights for the athletic program. The club sent the football team to Dallas for the Arkansas-SMU football game last November and sold season tickets in support of the athletic program.

The next meeting will be a planning meeting for next year and is set for Monday night, April 29, at the high school.

Bengals of Cincinnati Newest 11

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals are on their way. Now, if Paul Brown's Midas touch only can turn Bobby Burnett's shattered right leg into a healthy limb.

Burnett was the top name among 20 Eastern players selected Tuesday by head coach and owner Brown to stock the American Football League's newest franchise. Brown's 20 Western selections were to be announced today.

Burnett, the AFL's rookie of the year in 1966 with the Buffalo Bills, suffered torn ligaments and a broken right leg in mid-season 1967 and gained only 96 yards rushing.

Brown is taking a chance that Burnett can overcome his injury and return to top form. He's also taking a shot in the dark on another Eastern choice, Boston's Joe Bellino.

Used almost exclusively on kickoff and punt returns with the Patriots, Bellino has never achieved in pro football the star status he enjoyed during his collegiate days at Navy.

In addition to Bellino, the Patriots surrendered halfback J. D. Garrett, defensive tackle Jim Boudreaux and defensive back Ron Hall.

Cary Bugenhagen, Buffalo's No. 4 draft pick last season and an All-American at Syracuse, heads the Eastern linemen chosen by the Bengals.

Cincinnati took linebacker Danny Brabham, a former No. 1 draft choice, and tight end Bob Poole from Houston, and grabbed two centers—Jim Wasikiewicz and John Matlock—from New York.

The Bengals chose from lists of 11 exposed players supplied by eight AFL teams. Miami, an expansion club two years ago, was exempted from the draft.

Incunabula is the Latin term used to designate books printed before 1509.

FARM WAGES

1966 Average hourly farm wage

Traditionally, farm wages have differed in various sections of the country as shown in this map based on U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics. A minimum wage for agriculture went into effect Feb. 1, 1967, for the first time creating a wage floor—$1 an hour on farms using 500 man-days or more of hired labor in a peak quarter during the previous year. This February, the minimum will go to $1.15 an hour and in February, 1969, it will be increased to $1.30 an hour. It is expected that about one-third of the farmworkers covered will be migratory, outside their home counties.

Sharp Observation; Could Do Without Johnson or Faubus

Behind Monday's picture of an automobile which ran into Rose Hill cemetery there is this story:

The driver of the low-service car which went to the rescue found a Negro standing by the wreck and looking philosophical at the cemetery. Said the Negro:

"People been buried out there for 105 years — and still they're being run over..."

Someone has called for both Jim Johnson and Orville Faubus to quit monkeying with the Democratic party so that it can come back to life in Arkansas.

Jim is willing, but Orville isn't. And yet the cold political facts are that they are jointly responsible for putting Arkansas in the hands of a Republican governor in 1966.

Faubus' disengagement with the party is even more necessary than Johnson's. It was Faubus' 12 years in office that killed off many potential Democratic leaders and finally disenfranchised the majority of Democrats with the party they were born to.

Fire Dept. Makes Run at Noon

Hope Fire Dept. answered a call at 12:15 today to the Dennis Townsend home on Hilltop Drive where a fire had started in a hot water heater closet. Damage was considered minor.

Friday to Be School Holiday

Students of Hope Schools will be dismissed Friday, January 19, so that teachers may complete records and make plans for the second semester of school.

There will be a special meeting for the Hope High School faculty at 1:30 Friday afternoon in the high school building.

Reds Hit 'Bonnie and Clyde' Film

MOSCOW (AP) — "Bonnie and Clyde" is typical of films from the West that "stun, seduce morally, awaken the animal in man and drive him to delight in crime and imitate gangsterism," Pravda said today.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper said that in America "the glorification of gangsterism is accompanied by an increase in crime." It noted that the U.S. crime rate had gone up 16 per cent in the first nine months of 1967.

'Bugging' Is Charged to deGaulle

PARIS (AP) — The French Communist party today accused "Gaullist police" of bugging a secret meeting of the party's central committee.

A picture of a microphone and other electronic devices was published by the party newspaper, Humanite. It said the equipment was found in a heating shaft in the hall where the central committee meeting was held Tuesday in suburban Plessis-Robinson.

"There is no point in asking who ordered the installation," Humanite said. "Twenty years ago (de Gaulle) explained that the police protect the policies of the state. Even though it was very pleasant (Tuesday), we don't think that the Gaullist agents went to Plessis-Robinson to dance."

The police had no comment.

Trucks Damaged in Collision

Hope Police department answered a call at 10:50 Tuesday morning to Third and Main streets where a truck driven by Clyde T. Brown and owned by Corn Belt Hatcheseries, collided with another truck driven by Joseph Love and owned by Harold Bobo. Love was charged with having no breaks by investigating officer Shirley. Heavy damage resulted to both vehicles.

Englishmen Hit by New Cash Squeeze

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The British government readied another swing of the economy ax today with a new squeeze on the average Brito's pocketbook. Cuts in installment buying and higher taxes on buying for home use were expected.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins was to outline the latest dose of bad news as he opened a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the Labor government's post-devaluation program. The debate will end with a vote on a Conservative motion of no confidence which Labor's big majority in Commons is certain to defeat.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told Commons and the nation Tuesday that his government was accelerating the abandonment of Britain's historic role as a military power east of Suez and shrinking the dimensions of the welfare state because the nation could not pay the bill.

Britons were warned in a television address that stiffer taxes were coming to keep wages and profits down and cut home buy-

Most Dangerous of All Weapons Is a Big Mouth: Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Since this is the most dangerous of centuries, you'd think that as a safety measure every baby today would be born with a button on its lip.

This would help it to avoid that greatest of human perils—a big open flapping mouth.

Most words don't just happen to people. They are made to happen. People talk themselves into trouble because they don't keep their traps shut. They insist on saying the wrong things at the wrong time—as if they had an inborn appetite for disaster.

For example, if you really wish to enjoy a carefree 1968, here are a few remarks to avoid that can lead only to trouble:

"Let me skate across the lake first and see if the ice is thick enough to hold us."

"It's only 10 miles more, I'm sure there's enough gas in the tank to get us that far."

"You don't scare me one little bit, Buster. My motto is, the bigger they are the harder they fall."

"All right, let's take it to court, if you don't like it, so sue me."

"If you burn your draft card, I'll burn mine. We can always tell the government we were just kidding."

"Well, Madge, this is Leap Year. Who have you picked out to be your victim?"

"If there's anything else you

The annual inspection of the local National Guard Army was held yesterday by Col. Benjamin G. Taylor of the Fourth Army Inspector General's office, Ft. Sam Houston. He was accompanied by Sgt. John L. Plummer.

Other Hope businessmen going to the armory to welcome the I. G. team were George Frazier, Forrest Singleton, Henry Haynes, Calvin Smith and Sgt. Claud Byrd.

Home of Judge Is Bombed

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Police say two flaming fire bombs were hurled Tuesday night into the bedroom of a judge who had sentenced two civil rights workers to jail.

There were no injuries and only minor damage, police Lt. J.E. Bason said.

Circuit Court Judge James C. Adkins Jr. said today that a recent issue of the publication, "Black Voices," had intimidated he would be burned unless he released the workers on bond.

The latest plea to release Carole Thomas and Irvin Dawkins on appeal bond was turned down Tuesday by the Florida Supreme Court, clearing the way for a move in federal court.

Mrs. Thomas, wife of a University of Florida Medical Center faculty member and mother of three, a white woman, was sentenced to four months in jail. Dawkins, a Negro, drew six months.

Want done, boss, call on me first. If there's anything I hate, it's just sitting around twiddling my thumbs."

"Let's put an announcement on the bulletin board telling our employees right now that if business continues this good we expect to declare an even bigger Christmas bonus at the end of the year."

"Even if this is a one-way street, we can probably go ahead a couple of blocks more before turning off. There isn't much traffic at this hour."

"Just because we're married, Mabel, that doesn't mean I should spend my whole time at a cocktail party talking to you alone. If you feel a bit left out of it, you can always get attention by going to the center of the room and standing on your head."

"I'll volunteer, Sarge. What's the mission?"

"I left my glasses at home, but you've got an honest face. Give me the contract and show me where you want me to sign my John Hancock."

"Yeah, it sounds like a worthy cause. Put me down for whatever you think is fair."

"You say all the kids are teenagers? Why, yes, I don't mind agreeing to act as chaperone."

"There are two sides to every thing."

"Why not? If others can get away with it, why can't I?"

Overrunning Stop Signs No. 1 Error

Reported today: In the first 15 days of January, there were 13 accidents, with damage totaling $2,125. All 13 were due to failure to yield right-of-way. There were no injuries.

In 1967, Hope Police Dept. worked 323 accidents and 148 of these were for failure to yield right-of-way. There were 65 injuries. Chief Willis advises the driving public to stop at Stop signs and Yield signs.

Columnists Liable for Stolen Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ruled columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson are liable for damages for using files stolen from the office of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The summary judgment against the columnists was made Tuesday at Dodd's request in U.S. District Court. But Judge Alexander Holtzoff said the question of damages would have to be settled at a later trial.

Dodd is suing Pearson and Anderson for $1 million. The columnists have conceded writing articles based on material allegedly taken from Dodd's files by several of the senator's employees. The articles dealt largely with the Connecticut Democrat's finances.

Dodd was censured by the Senate June 22 for using political funds to pay personal bills. Holtzoff said his ruling concerned only whether a person is liable for damages if he receives purloined documents and uses the information they contain.

The judge rejected Dodd's contention that his rights to privacy were violated. "The court concludes that the publication of the material of which the plaintiff complains is not protected by the cloak of the right of privacy, because the publication relates to his activities as high-ranking public officer..." in which the public has an interest," Holtzoff said.

Singing Group to Meet Here

The Hempstead County Singing Convention will meet Sunday, January 21st at 1:30 p.m. at New Hope Baptist Church, located 4 miles north of Hope on Highway 4. President, Harold Duke, extends a cordial invitation to all. The Pastor is Rev. C. L. Roberts.

Frontier of Laos Gets Blasting

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Communists "seem to have temporarily run out of steam," Gen. William C. Westmoreland said today as the ground war in South Vietnam slipped into another one of its periodic lulls.

Only small, scattered ground clashes were reported. But Westmoreland, the top American commander in Vietnam, said he anticipates "a resurgence of enemy initiatives just before or after Tet," the Vietnamese Lunar New Year Jan. 30.

"Most of the Communist initiatives have political motives," Westmoreland said in an interview. "Tet is an emotional time when families and friends gather. Any display of strength would benefit the enemy both psychologically and politically. They like to develop the image of strength and try to give the people the impression they're winning."

For the first 10 days after the Jan. 1 New Year's cease-fire, the Vietnamese took the offensive, invading and temporarily holding provincial capitals and

Johnson Sidesteps Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson said Tuesday that he had neither the time nor the inclination to get into a "running harrangue" with former Gov. Orval Faubus, but that the "sudden, hysterical outburst against me by Mr. Faubus and his henchmen is obviously timed and designed to hinder my efforts on behalf of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama."

Faubus had said earlier in the day that the prevailing opinion in Arkansas was that "Wallace will be hurt if Johnson does the fronting for him."

The former governor called Wallace a fine and able man and said Johnson probably could do Wallace more good by merely supporting him and not taking any active part in the organization of a campaign.

Wallace is expected to be a third-party candidate for president, and Johnson has been named to head his campaign in Arkansas.

After Faubus' remarks, Johnson issued a prepared statement in which he said, "I have no intention of letting them deter my dedication to the great cause Mr. Wallace espouses. There is much to be done in Arkansas in order to place Mr. Wallace's name on the ballot."

"Therefore, for the present, I have neither the time nor the inclination to get into a running harrangue with Mr. Faubus. He is living in the past, and I am looking to the future."

British Withdrawal From Asia to Pose New U.S. Problems

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expresses concern the United States will be faced with trying to fill the military vacuum created when British forces leave the vast area from the Middle East to Singapore.

A State Department spokesman said Monday, in the wake of the British announcement of its plans to pull out troops from the area in a budget-cutting move: "We have no plans to move in where the British forces pull out."

But Mansfield said in an interview: "I am sorry the British felt they were forced to take this step because I am certain we will be asked to fill the vacuum east of Suez. I don't know how we are going to do it because I don't think we have the men or resources for it."

It was clear from private conversations that many civilian and military officials shared Mansfield's belief and concern. They contended as one of them put it, "We are not prepared to extend our commitments" in view of the strains of the Vietnam war and existing worldwide American commitments.

Bitter reactions to the British plan were voiced behind the scenes, coupled in some instances with complaints Britain has failed to support the United States in Vietnam.

Officially the U.S. government expressed regret that economically hard-pressed Britain found it necessary to cancel a billion-dollar purchase of F111 supersonic fighter planes and to evacuate all British troops, ships and aircraft from East of Suez in three years.

The new withdrawal plan will take effect at least two years earlier than anticipated and apparently exceeds the scope expected by U.S. planners.

"We hoped they would keep small garrisons at least in the Persian Gulf area and their pullback is going to be much more rapid than we thought it would be," one source said.

What concerns U.S. military strategists is that the British withdrawal—and possible new burdens for this country—come as the Soviets are establishing a widening foothold in the Red Sea—Indian Ocean area.

They also foresee a likelihood the United States may be confronted with a Soviet challenge east of Suez in the face of growing public sentiment for a re-examination, and possible reduction, of U.S. military commitments around the globe.

American authorities expressed hope the nations in the Persian Gulf area—including Iran, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait—would form a defense and regional economic association to make up for the departure of the British influence in that area.

Officials said Australia and New Zealand would like to see the United States fill the gaps left by Britain in the Singapore-Malaysia area, but indicated the Australians and New Zealanders should prepare to go it alone there.

The U.S. Navy long has been concerned about the Indian Ocean, although until now it has been regarded as Britain's province.

Some Navy sources suggested the British pullout might lead to creation of a separate Indian Ocean fleet. They also said there has been talk of bolstering the present tiny U.S. Navy Red Sea force of two destroyers and a sea plane tender.

Britain has maintained one carrier east of Suez but that will end with the pullback.

The 50 F111 long-range warplanes were intended to give Britain a striking power throughout the Indian Ocean—Far East region.

Castroites Murder 2 in Guatemala

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
Associated Press Writer
GUATEMALA (AP) — A pro-Castro revolutionary organization claimed credit today for the machine gun slaying of the top two U.S. military officers in Guatemala.

A typewritten communique signed Rebel Armed Forces—FAR—said the U.S. military mission had "ordered the Guatemalan army to create groups of assassins" against guerrillas and the FAR "decided to mete out justice."

Firing from a speeding car into the Americans' car near the Guatemalan Air Force's headquarters Tuesday, machine-guns killed U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, and wounded Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, and Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41.

Greene was reported in critical condition, but Forster was discharged from the hospital after treatment of an arm wound.

The Guatemalan Cabinet proclaimed a "state of alarm"—modified martial law—in an attempt to check a mounting wave of terrorism by both extreme rightists and extreme leftists as well as gangsters taking advantage of the political turmoil.

The explanation should be detailed and, on such a sore and controversial question as stopping the bombing, should be told in ABC language, if necessary, to outline advantages, disadvantages and the government's position.

To this writing Johnson's repeated failure to do this kind of thing pretty much explains why he and the American effort in Vietnam have been subject to so much abuse by emotional, ill-informed and unrealistic people.

Johnson, in short, has done little to put them on the defensive by carrying his story to all the people, thus putting the public in a better position to judge who's right.

This is not meant as a criticism of the thoughtful, well-informed anti-Vietnam war critics who have arrived at their position of disagreeing with Johnson by logical processes.

Printing Bids to Be Called Again

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Tuesday that bids on state printing and stationery contracts couldn't be opened until Jan. 30.

He said, however, that he was sure printing supplies would be available when the state legislature begins its special session Feb. 5.

Bryant rewrote the contracts after Chancellor John T. Jernigan of Little Rock ruled that those prepared under the direction of the state Printing and Specifications Review Committee were unconstitutional.

State law requires a 30-day waiting period between the time bids are advertised and the time they're opened.

State of Union Word Due Tonight

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — This will probably be President Johnson's most talkative year—out of necessity—but he still hasn't learned the art of explaining. And this has done him damage.

He comes back into public view tonight when he delivers his State of the Union message to Congress after weeks at his Texas ranch working on the budget, his programs for the year and tonight's important message.

And he will get the reaction a president usually gets on a night like this, the opposition criticizing and his own people applauding. Since this is an election year the reaction should be more intense than usual.

The applause will hearten him, because he likes it, and the criticism will irritate. He's not likely to say much about it. He tries to ignore criticism, at least the Republican kind.

But the struggle begins with the delivery of the message and will last no less than six months with Congress as he tries to get through the programs he outlines tonight.

This will require a lot of talking and a lot of special messages with his various programs as he sends them to the Capitol. Then the talking will mushroom as the political campaign heats up in late summer.

Because of the nature of the problem, with Congress and in the campaign, he must do a lot of explaining, far more than usual for him. Yet it probably won't be enough. He should have done more the past four years.

Johnson seems to believe most of the time, and on most problems, that when he gives some kind of explanation, as on Vietnam, he has said all that needs to be said for quite a while on that subject.

For example: The long gaps between his explanations on Vietnam. But these gaps leave a vacuum in public thinking, which gives the critics time to multiply and fill the vacuum with their side of the story.

On a critical subject like Vietnam a president doesn't do a sufficient explanatory job by hitting a few high points in dignified English. Many problems and questions can't be answered by leaving anything to public imagination.

The explanation should be detailed and, on such a sore and controversial question as stopping the bombing, should be told in ABC language, if necessary, to outline advantages, disadvantages and the government's position.

To this writing Johnson's repeated failure to do this kind of thing pretty much explains why he and the American effort in Vietnam have been subject to so much abuse by emotional, ill-informed and unrealistic people.

Johnson, in short, has done little to put them on the defensive by carrying his story to all the people, thus putting the public in a better position to judge who's right.

This is not meant as a criticism of the thoughtful, well-informed anti-Vietnam war critics who have arrived at their position of disagreeing with Johnson by logical processes.

Wife Feared Death in Divorce Action —and Then It Came

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When he learns I have filed this action for divorce, he will release his anger on me and I live in fear of the moment when he learns of this action. He will commit violence on my person."

So wrote Hildegard Dilbeck, 43, in an affidavit filed with a divorce complaint Sept. 8, 1966. She married song writer Thomas Christopher Dilbeck in 1958. They separated, childless, two days before she filed the divorce complaint. She said they had $400,000 in common property.

After filing a counter divorce complaint in October 1966, Dilbeck filed answers to questions from his wife's lawyers last May in which he said he and his wife had never been intimate.

On Tuesday, the day the divorce case was scheduled in Superior Court, Hildegard Dilbeck was shot to death in a courthouse corridor and her husband booked on suspicion of murder and attempted murder. Three persons were wounded, one critically.

Police gave this account: Dilbeck, 62, sat on a bench outside the courtroom where the case was to be heard. His wife, who lived in Bell, her lawyer, a friend and an accountant sat nearby in the corridor.

Witnesses said Dilbeck drew a .25-caliber pistol, shouted "Kill... Kill... Kill..." shot his wife in the side and emptied the pistol on the persons near her.

The friend, Mable Klug, 45, was listed in serious condition at Dominguez Valley Hospital. One of the other wounded persons, Daniel Sheahan, 34, Mrs. Dilbeck's lawyer, was in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital at Burbank. The other John B. Norberg, 35, a San Marino accountant and witness for Mrs. Dilbeck, was treated for a minor flesh wound.

Dilbeck's business lawyer, Elyth Jacobs, said, "He was a successful song writer. However, I think he made most of his money in real estate." The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers said its records show only that Dilbeck was the coauthor of "I'll hold you in my heart until I can hold you in my arms" in 1947. Dilbeck's lawyer, Max A. Goodman, who arrived after the shooting said the main point of contention in the divorce action was $270,000 in property. Dilbeck lived in Long Beach, his wife lived in Bell.

Wilson Pins Career on Solvency

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson staked the life of his Labor government today on a two-prong drive to make Britain solvent, with slashing cuts in military spending abroad and social services at home.

The program, which Wilson unveils in the House of Commons this afternoon, reportedly included withdrawal of most British forces east of Suez by 1971, four years ahead of the target announced last July, and cancellation or reduction of the billion-dollar contract to buy 50 American F-111 bombers.

Under pressure from Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore, the Cabinet agreed to keep a token presence in his island state after 1971.

Wilson's statement will be followed by a two-day debate, beginning Wednesday. At its conclusion Thursday will come a vote of confidence in which the government is assured of victory by the Labor party's Commons majority of 85 votes. But Wilson may have to accept the resignation of a minister or two whose favorite projects were treated especially rough.

Regardless of how Labor's left wing may howl at the cuts in the social services, no sizable segment of the party is going to precipitate a revolt which would force the government to face a general election it would be certain to lose. This means that Wilson does not have to call an election for another three years, and he is banking on getting Britain into the black before then, a miracle that would insure the Laborites another lease on the government and a bright page in British history.

Wilson and the Cabinet decided to speed up the withdrawal from Southeast Asia and the Persian Gulf despite pleas for delay from Washington and the four Commonwealth partners in the region—Malaysia, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand. President Johnson wrote Wilson privately that he did not wish to interfere but felt this was an ill-timed moment to announce new plans for withdrawal. However, the situation in Commons and the Labor Party was in direct contrast to that in the U.S. Congress, where military spending has priority over domestic programs and the latter are the first targets in any economy drive. Cuts in British military spending were the price for the Laborite rank-and-file's acceptance of cutbacks at home.

The new austerity campaign is designed to back up the devaluation of the pound Nov. 18 and is based on the age-old British dictum that the island kingdom "must export or die."

Wilson's aim is two-fold: to shift $2.4 billion in national resources—money, manpower and materials—from production for domestic consumption and other nonessentials to production for export by fiscal 1970-71; and to mop up $1.2 billion to $1.4 billion in domestic purchasing power this year through taxation, restrictions on installment buying and possibly forced savings so that money cannot be spent on goods which should be exported.

High Cost of Learning

The greater part of the burgeoning costs of higher education in recent years has been met by state and local taxation and student fees. Projections into the 1970s, however, indicate that federal funds will be playing an increasingly greater role.

Romney's Alternate Rockefeller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Hugh Scott says a defeat in the New Hampshire primary wouldn't end Michigan Gov. George Romney's chances of capturing the Republican presidential nomination.
But Scott says a defeat in the Wisconsin primary less than a month later could mean the end of the line for Romney's presidential hopes.

Scott, a Pennsylvanian who has long been a leader in the Senate's GOP moderate contingent, indicated he feels Romney might step aside for another candidate if he loses both the March 12 New Hampshire and the April 2 Wisconsin run-offs.
And if that were the situation, Scott hinted at a Tuesday news conference, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller might be persuaded to enter the race for the nomination.
In the meantime, Scott declared, Romney "is a tremendous fighter when the odds are against him."

Romney, meanwhile, pressed a campaign that is taking him to family living rooms all over New Hampshire.
"I have a feeling that we're really going to score a real upset here," he said. "I am greatly encouraged."
Romney hopes to open 500 neighborhood campaign headquarters in private homes across the state and visit about 150 of them before election day. The technique—featuring coffee, doughnuts and campaign talk in a relaxed, informal setting—was borrowed from Romney's successful Michigan campaign.

Scott called his news conference to announce he is contacting Republican governors and senators from Maryland to New York and from New England to Ohio urging them to form a united front and work together to back a candidate and draft a platform at the GOP national convention.
He said he believes the eventual choice will be a Republican moderate, adding, "I don't think we can win otherwise."
In Tulsa, Okla., California Gov. Ronald Reagan addressed a Republican fund-raising dinner for 45 minutes and was interrupted more than 30 times by cheers and applause as he attacked the Johnson Administration.
Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy ended a six-day campaign swing through California with an attack in San Francisco on the President's fiscal policies. He said the administration has failed to control inflation or deal adequately with the balance of payments problem.

Hope Policeman Speaks to Brownie Troop

Sgt. Carl Ward of Hope Police Dept. spoke to Brownie Troop No. 166 at its regular meeting Monday in the Little Hut. His talk covered bicycle safety, safety to and from school and safety on crossing highways. Sgt. Ward is shown with the members of the troop. Leaders are Mrs. Dale Flowers and Mrs. Donal Parker.
Blalberg, is "out of the danger zone."
"He is over the period when he could suddenly get a massive infection," Barnard said of the retired dentist.
The surgeon told a news conference the third transplant at Groote Schuur will not be performed within the next six weeks, and not until he has returned from a trip beginning in late February to the United States, Puerto Rico and "somewhere in South Africa."

In Stanford, Calif., Mike Kasperak, 54, was reported better though still on the critical list because his body may yet try to reject his transplanted heart.
His doctors said Tuesday he was conscious and responding to instructions.
Stanford University Medical Center's bulletin said, "Blood pressure is normal with no signs of rejection" of the heart he received Jan. 6 from the body of a 43-year-old woman who had died of a stroke.
The new heart was functioning with normal rhythm, and Kasperak showed improvement in liver, lung and kidney functions, doctors said. They gave Kasperak his first food since intravenous feeding was started after the operation. A little sugar and water was passed down his throat via plastic tube.
"I know he is going to make it," his wife, Ferné, herself a heart patient—said at a news conference.

African Heart Case Out of Peril

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christiaan Barnard said today the next candidate for a heart transplant at Groote Schuur Hospital is "materializing" but a definite decision has not been made.
